How does this year deliver your curriculum intent?		The Year 12 Sociology curriculum introduces students to the foundations of sociological thinking, stimulating inquisitiveness through the study of Families and Education. These topics encourage exploration of social structures, institutions, and the impact of socialisation on individual behaviour, directly addressing the nature vs nurture debate. Alongside this, the development of Research Methods equips students with a scientific lens to understand and critique evidence and theories. As students examine perspectives such as functionalism, Marxism, and feminism, they begin to challenge preconceptions and build respect for diverse viewpoints. The inclusion of Beliefs and Sociological Theory toward the end of the year further supports students in developing a holistic understanding of society, preparing them to think critically and communicate their ideas effectively.
